Civil Rights Assault Case Thrown Out

Alabama Court Tries Klansman In Liuzzo Case

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A judge of state court threw out an assault charge today against a former special deputy sheriff accused of wounding a civil rights worker during an outbreak of racial violence in Lowndes County last year.

The decision by Circuit Judge Werth Thagard means that the defendant, Thomas L. Coleman cannot be indicted again and cannot be tried for the shotgun attack on the Rev. Richard Morrisroe, a white Catholic priest from Chicago.

Immediately afterward, the court got ready for the trial of a Ku Klux Klansman Eugene Thomas on a murder charge in the killing of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, another white civil rights volunteer.

The dismissal of the assault and battery indictment against Coleman came when State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers asked the judge to nol-pros the charge, which would have meant simply to drop it for want of prosecution, but leave the way open for a later grand jury to return another and perhaps more serious indictment.

After a conference in an adjoining room, Thagard dismissed the assault and battery charge "with prejudice" which means no other indictment can be returned in that case.

Coleman, 56, a one-time special officer and a highway engineer by profession, sat among the spectators in the courtroom.

Flowers has said repeatedly he feels Coleman should have been indicted on a more serious charge than assault and battery, which carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a $500 fine. Dismissal of the lesser indictment would leave the way open for a later grand jury to charge Coleman with a more serious offense.

Morrisroe, 26, was critically wounded and a companion, seminary student Jonathan Daniels of Keene, N.H., was slain by Coleman Aug. 20, 1965, while the two clergymen were in Lowndes County helping Negroes in a voter registration drive.

Coleman admitted shooting both men but claimed self-defense.

It was questionable whether the special deputy would go to trial this week regardless of Thagard's ruling because the murder charge against Thomas, 43, in the slaying of Mrs. Liuzzo had priority on the docket.

Mrs. Liuzzo, the wife of Teamsters Union official Anthony Liuzzo, was slain by gunshots from a passing car March 25, 1965, after the Selma to Montgomery civil rights march. She had joined others in the march and was driving Negroes back to Selma.

Peace Officers Training Plan Will Fail Without More Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's new peace officer training program could run into trouble unless the legislature comes up with cash to help the local governments pay the tab.

This is the opinion of B. Cook, executive director of the Ohio Peace Officers' Association.

Cook said Ohio could receive up to $35,000 a year on a matching basis under provisions of the federal law Enforcement Education Act.

Republicans Write Own Antipoverty Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are ready with their own antipoverty plan today as the administration's much criticized program finally reached the House floor.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says the GOP plan would cost the government less than half as much.

The Michigan Republican said in an interview the GOP's so-called equal opportunity bill would cost about $1.75 billion, or which $750 million would be paid by state and local governments and private industry.

The administration bill, which would carry the war on poverty into its third year, would cost $1.75 billion — all in federal funds.

Ford said the GOP plan, to be introduced this week, is a concrete example of the Republicans' drive to cut federal spending. He said cuts are imperative "because of the Johnson-Humphrey inflation we're faced with."

Typhoon Strikes Heart of Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Hundreds of police and soldiers were pressed into disaster duty today to clean up the debris, restore communications and dig out the dead from the worst typhoon to hit Japan in seven years.

Typhoon Ida smashed into the heartland of Japan, the Tokyo and Mt. Fuji area, early Sunday while Typhoon Helen was still beating southern Japan with less ferocity.

National Police headquarters said the latest count was 211 dead, 103 missing and nearly 1,000 injured. Damage to U.S. military installations was estimated at more than $6 million.

Government officials estimated Japanese damage at more than $300 million.

It was the highest typhoon casualty toll since 5,041 died near Nagoya on Sept. 26, 1959.

U.S. Army headquarters said no Americans were badly injured.

A third big typhoon, June, was churning in the Pacific.

Weathermen said it might approach Japan Thursday if it stays in its present course.

The weekend typhoons, and particularly Ida, caused multimillion-dollar damage, including 60 per cent of the pear and grape crops in Yamanashi Prefecture, site of Mt. Fuji.

Salty rain carried by the typhoon also did widespread damage to harvests.

Ida hurled the most violent winds ever recorded by Japanese weathermen — 202-mile gusts — at the top of Mt. Fuji.

Communist infiltration across the demilitarized zone between the two Viet Nams has become a major problem for U.S. and South Vietnamese forces.

Military sources indicate an effective force would need to total at least three regiments and possibly four — between 10,000 and 16,000 men.

The South Vietnamese already have one regiment in the area and the American Marines lack only one battalion of having two regiments.

The Koreans and Australians probably could furnish only token forces, possibly a battalion or less each, because of assignments elsewhere in the country.

The American, Korean and Australian units would not cross into the buffer zone which flanks the river that is the actual dividing line between North and South Viet Nam. They would remain just south of the no-man's land created by the 1954 Geneva agreement which divided Viet Nam. But Communist intrusions into the zone from the North would give the South Vietnamese an excuse for occasional sweeps along the south side of the river.

Teamsters President called Romney "the best governor for the working man since Frank Murphy."

Democrat Murphy played a key role in the start of the United Auto Workers in the 1930s.

While praising Romney, Hoffa showed why distaste for Williams in telling 1,800 Detroit-area Teamsters leaders of endorsements by Michigan Drive, the political arm of the Michigan Conference of Teamsters.

Williams received news of the endorsement with slight enthusiasm. Romney said he didn't approve of endorsements by "economic organizations" and that he didn't approve of Hoffa's tactics.

Hoffa made it clear that the Teamsters considered the record of Williams' opponent, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, so bad that they felt compelled to back Williams.

Hoffa said Romney's opponent, Zolton Ferency, might make a good governor but that he would have to "learn an awful lot in a hurry" to do as well as Romney.

Cook says his biggest concern is over money to pay instructors, many of whom have worked voluntarily without pay to get schools going in 38 communities so far. Eight cities already had programs providing more than the required minimum of 120 hours' basic training.

"We can't expect this to continue on a permanent basis. We're going to have to get funds to pay these people," says Cook, adding that his own staff—a secretary and one field man—soon will not be adequate to carry on its consultation and co-ordinating work.

The 1965 Legislature voted to create the program, making Ohio the fourth state to require basic training for every peace officer. The legislature appropriated $50,000 to run the state office from Jan. 1, 1966 until July 1, 1967, but provided no funds for local governments charged with the responsibility of providing training.

The new law created 14 training centers.

Fund Drive Under Way Here Today

The smiling figure of "Lil' Angel" serves to announce the start of the 1966 Pickaway County Community Fund drive.

This year's goal is $43,000. The money is used for the support of seven helpful agencies.

Community organizations heretofore have been: American Red Cross, Boys Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Well - Child Clinic, Mental Health Society and the Youth Canteen.

The campaign begins today in the Industry, Advanced Gifts and Business Divisions. Residents of the city and county start Oct. 2. Community Fund officials hope all campaigns will end by Oct. 9.

Two clubs will be formed this year in the Business Division. The Century Club is composed of firms that donated $100 or more. There also will be a 100 per cent club for business' who have all of their employees contributing to the fund. A list of club members will be published daily during the week of Oct. 3.

"Lil' Angel" will be a popular figure throughout the campaign period. His ability to smile will depend on the success of the various drive stages.

Greater Cleveland had five deaths in five accidents. Butler County had five in four accidents and Coroner Garrett J. Boone said it was the worst traffic weekend he had seen there in his 25 years in office.

Already this month, the state had posted an appalling 38 deaths over the 78 hour Labor Day weekend, and just the Sept. 17 weekend had registered 28 killed in 54 hours.

This time, the count got off to an unusually fast start with seven deaths in the first six hours Friday night. It never slowed.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown made an eleventh hour plea to Ohioans today, asking them to make sure they are registered to vote before the Wednesday deadline.

The registration deadline is 9 p.m. Wednesday. The state has 37 counties that require registration in all precincts and 12 counties where registration is required in only a portion of the county.

"No matter how enthused voters may be as we approach the Nov. 8 (election) date, only those voters living in the registration areas of Ohio who are 'on the books' will be able to vote," said Brown, the state's chief election official.

He called recent registration reports generally disappointing. The state had 3,571,759 registered voters in May, he said, and should be able to reach a record total for this November's election.

CHS Open House Draws Big Crowd

In spite of continuous showers, nearly 3,000 people turned out for the open house and dedication of Circleville's new senior high school Sunday afternoon.

The open house, scheduled from 1-5 p. m., was lengthened nearly one-half hour due to the many people who toured the new facilities. Presenting a dedication address at 3 p. m. was Pastor Carl Zehner of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Introduced during the ceremony were R. L. Brehmer Jr., president of the Circleville Board of Education, and board members: Mrs. Rosemary Mader, E. G. Grigg, Richard Bowers and Robert Elsea.

Others recognized were Mrs. Marie Mace, president of the Seever-Williams Co., general contractors of the building; James Foley of the Kellam and Foley Architectural Firm; Mary Ellen Rader, board clerk; and the following members of a Citizens' Committee organized to promote passage of a bond issue in November, Jack Clifton, Keith Wagner, Mrs. Emerson Spicer, Mrs. Ned Harden and Mrs. J. P. Hedges.

OFFICERS of the various clubs and classes of Circleville High School served as guides during the afternoon tours.

The Rev. Henry Walters of the First Presbyterian Church opened and closed the ceremony with prayer.

Tying Ships Is Hard Task

Gordon Donned Suit Too Soon

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—Gemini 11 space-walker Richard Gordon revealed today he was "tired and had a pretty high heart rate" even before he left the spaceship to take his shortened stroll in orbit.

And, he said, what he thought would be a 30-second task of tying Gemini 11 to an Agena with a 100-foot cord turned out to be "a monumental task of about 30 minutes."

Gordon's walk in space during the record-smashing flight of Gemini 11 was eventually cut short because he worked so hard sweat poured down his face into his eyes.

He told a news conference that he and his flying partner, Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., got about two hours ahead of time in preparations for the stroll the second day aloft and even considered asking officials to let Gordon begin one orbit early.

"So essentially I was setting there with no cooling," Gordon said, noting that he was already bundled up, just waiting, in his bulky spacesuit. At this point we was off the spaceship's coolant system, and the pressure suit environment system was not yet turned on.

They stopped the preparations and Gordon went back to the spacecraft system for cooling.

As a result, he said, "I was tired and had a pretty high heart rate before we opened the hatch."

Typhoon Strikes Heart of Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Hundreds of police and soldiers were pressed into disaster duty today to clean up the debris, restore communications and dig out the dead from the worst typhoon to hit Japan in seven years.

Typhoon Ida smashed into the heartland of Japan, the Tokyo and Mt. Fuji area, early Sunday while Typhoon Helen was still beating southern Japan with less ferocity.

National Police headquarters said the latest count was 211 dead, 103 missing and nearly 1,000 injured. Damage to U.S. military installations was estimated at more than $6 million.

Government officials estimated Japanese damage at more than $300 million.

It was the highest typhoon casualty toll since 5,041 died near Nagoya on Sept. 26, 1959.

U.S. Army headquarters said no Americans were badly injured.

A third big typhoon, June, was churning in the Pacific. Weathermen said it might approach Japan Thursday if it stays on its present course.

The weekend typhoons, and particularly Ida, caused multimillion-dollar damage, including 60 per cent of the pear and

The administration bill comes to the House floor after a long delay while Congress is working on several major bills in a drive toward mid-October adjournment.

If they can squeeze it in, House leaders also want to get passage of one of President Johnson's anti-inflation measures. It would suspend the 7 per cent investment credit for industry, and certain tax advantages depreciation formulas.

Four Nation Force Seen

Units To Halt
Red Infiltration

DONG HA, South Viet Nam (AP) — American officers believe a four-nation blocking force is the best way to stop Communist troop infiltration across the demilitarized zone into South Viet Nam.

U.S. sources say the idea is being considered on the highest American levels but the three other governments must also approve.

The force would include Korean and Australian troops as well as South Vietnamese units and U.S. Marines already deployed in the northern part of South Viet Nam.

Communist infiltration across the demilitarized zone between the two Viet Nams has become a major problem for U.S. and South Vietnamese forces.

Military sources indicate an effective force would need to total at least three regiments and possibly four — between 10,000 and 16,000 men.

The South Vietnamese already have one regiment in the area and the American Marines lack only one battalion of having two regiments.

The Koreans and Australians probably could furnish only token forces, possibly a battalion or less each, because of assignments elsewhere in the country.

The American, Korean and Australian units would not cross into the buffer zone which flanks the river that is the actual dividing line between North and South Viet Nam. They would remain just south of the no-man's land created by the 1954 Geneva agreement which divided Viet Nam. But Communist intrusions into the zone from the North would give the South Vietnamese an excuse for occasional sweeps along the south side of the river.

Romney Gets Endorsement Of Teamsters

DETROIT (AP) — Republican Gov. George Romney got enthusiastic endorsement from Michigan Teamsters Sunday while a "lesser-of-two evils" nod went to Democratic U.S. senatorial candidate G. Mennen Williams.

Teamsters President called Romney "the best governor for the working man since Frank Murphy." Democrat Murphy played a key role in the start of the United Auto Workers in the 1930s.

While praising Romney, Hoffa showed wry distaste for Williams in telling 1,800 Detroit-area Teamsters leaders of endorsements by Michigan Drive, the political arm of the Michigan Conference of Teamsters.

Williams received news of the endorsement with slight enthusiasm. Romney said he didn't approve of endorsements by "economic organizations" and that he didn't approve of Hoffa's tactics.

Hoffa made it clear that the Teamsters considered the record of Williams' opponent, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, so bad that they felt compelled to back Williams.

Hoffa said Romney's opponent, Zoltan Ferency, might make a good governor but that he would have to "learn an awful lot in a hurry" to do as well as Romney.

Youths Find Body Bisected By Train

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A group of small boys crossing the track in the Norfolk Western yards downtown Sunday came upon the bisected body of a man who had been run over by a freight train.

He was identified as Alexander Henderson, about 48, a transient with no permanent address and with relatives in Michigan and the South.

Cook says his biggest concern is over money to pay instructors, many of whom have worked voluntarily without pay to get schools going in 38 communities so far. Eight cities already had programs providing more than the required minimum of 120 hours' basic training.

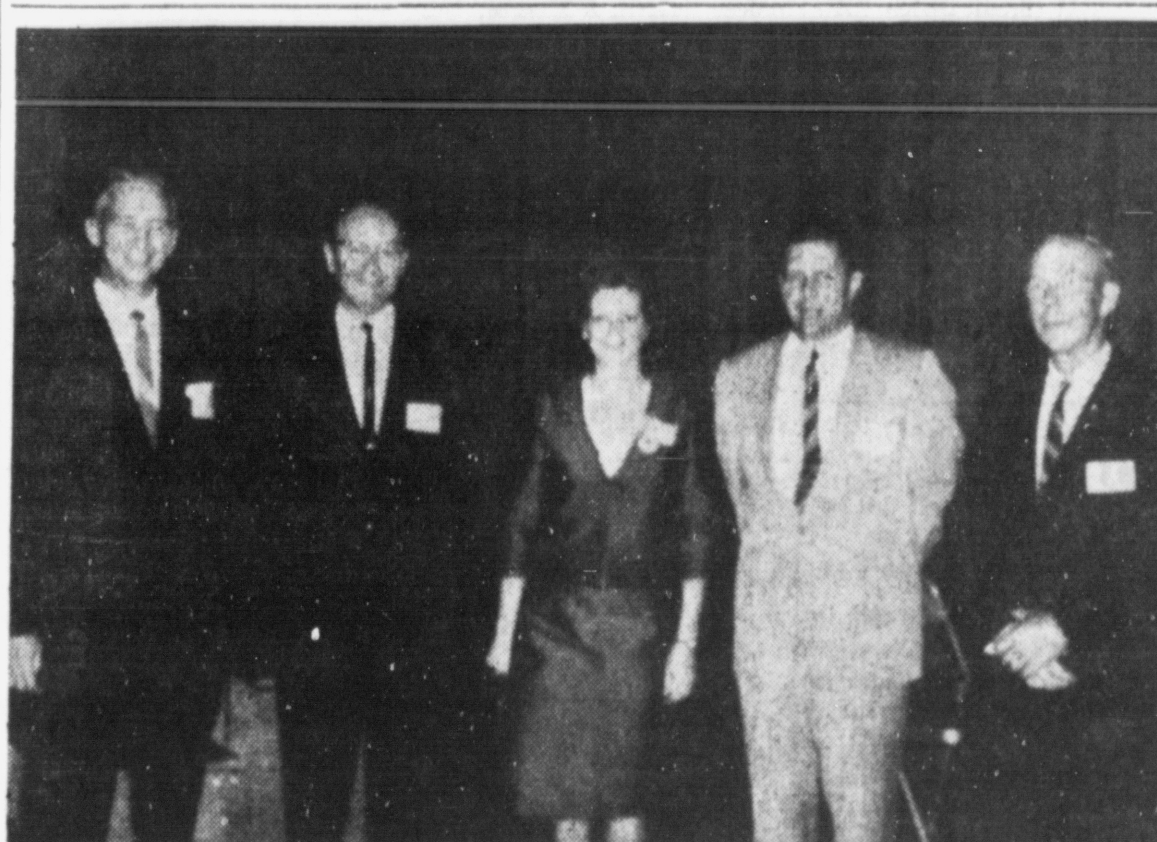

"We can't expect this to continue on a permanent basis. We're going to have to get funds to pay these people," says Cook, adding that his own staff—a secretary and one field man—soon will not be adequate to carry on its consultation and co-ordinating work.

The 1965 Legislature voted to create the program, making Ohio the fourth state to require basic training for every peace officer. The legislature appropriated $50,000 to run the state office from Jan. 1, 1966 until July 1, 1967, but provided no funds for local governments charged with the responsibility of providing training.

The new law created 14 training centers.

Fund Drive Under Way Here Today

The smiling figure of "Lil' Angel" serves to announce the start of the 1966 Pickaway County Community Fund drive.

This year's goal is $43,000. The money is used for the support of seven helpful agencies.

Community organizations benefited are: American Red Cross, Boys Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Well - Child Clinic, Mental Health Society and the Youth Canteen.

dential campaigns in the city and county starts Oct. 2.

Community Fund officials hope all campaigns will end by Oct. 9.

Two clubs will be formed this year in the Business Division. The Century Club is composed of firms that donated $100 or more. There also will be a 100 per cent club for business' who have all of their employees contributing to the fund. A list of club members will be published daily during the week of Oct. 3.

"Lil' Angel" will be a popular figure throughout the campaign period. His ability to smile will depend on the success of the various drive stages.

Teenagers Die In 3-Car Wreck

CELINA, Ohio (AP)—A three car accident took two lives early today.

The victims were Joseph Bruns, 16, and James Puthoff, both of Chickasaw in Mercer County.

Bruns, a passenger in Puthoff's car, was killed in the accident on Ohio 119 near Chickasaw. Puthoff died several hours later in a Lima hospital.

Two other persons sustained less serious injuries.

CHS Open House Draws Big Crowd

In spite of continuous showers, nearly 3,000 people turned out for the open house and dedication of Circleville's new senior high school Sunday afternoon.

The open house, scheduled from 1-5 p. m., was lengthened nearly one-half hour due to the many people who toured the new facilities. Presenting a dedication address at 3 p. m. was Pastor Carl Zehner of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Introduced during the ceremony were R. L. Brehmer Jr., president of the Circleville Board of Education, and board members: Mrs. Rosemary Mader, E. G. Grigg, Richard Bowers and Robert Elsea.

Others recognized were Mrs. Marie Mace, president of the Seever-Williams Co., general contractors of the building; James Foley of the Kellam and Foley Architectural Firm; Mary Ellen Rader, board clerk; and the following members of a Citizens' Committee organized to promote passage of a bond issue in November, Jack Clifton, Keith Wagner, Mrs. Emerson Spicer, Mrs. Ned Harden and Mrs. J. P. Hedges.

OFFICERS of the various clubs and classes of Circleville High School served as guides during the afternoon tours.

The Rev. Henry Walters of the First Presbyterian Church opened and closed the ceremony with prayer.

Boy Gets Finger In Quarter Slot

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Richard Meletio, 9, poked a finger into a vending machine slot designed only for quarters.

"I was just fooling around," he said.

He was at a bowling center near his home.

It was an hour and 27 minutes later before firemen hacksawed the metal slot and used pliers to free Richard's finger.

Tying Ships Is Hard Task

Gordon Donned Suit Too Soon

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—Gemini 11 space-walker Richard Gordon revealed today he was "tired and had a pretty high heart rate" even before he left the spaceship to take his shortened stroll in orbit.

And, he said, what he thought would be a 30-second task of tying Gemini 11 to an Agena with a 100-foot cord turned out to be "a monumental task of about 30 minutes."

Gordon's walk in space during the record-smashing flight of Gemini 11 was eventually cut short because he worked so hard sweat poured down his face into his eyes.

He told a news conference that he and his flying partner, Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., got about two hours ahead of time in preparations for the stroll the second day aloft and even considered asking officials to let Gordon begin one orbit early.

"So essentially I was setting there with no cooling," Gordon said, noting that he was already bundled up, just waiting, in his bulky spacesuit. At this point we was off the spaceship's coolant system, and the pressure suit environment system was not yet turned on.

They stopped the preparations and Gordon went back to the spacecraft system for cooling.

As a result, he said, "I was tired and had a pretty high heart rate before we opened the hatch."

Registration Nears End

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown made an eleventh hour plea to Ohioans today, asking them to make sure they are registered to vote before the Wednesday deadline.

The registration deadline is 9 p. m. Wednesday. The state has 37 counties that require registration in all precincts and 12 counties where registration is required in only a portion of the county.

"No matter how enthused voters may be as we approach the Nov. 8 (election) date, only those voters living in the registration areas of Ohio who are 'on the books' will be able to vote," said Brown, the state's chief election official.

He called recent registration reports generally disappointing. The state had 3,571,739 registered voters in May, he said, and should be able to reach a record total for this November's election.

A record 3,748,277 persons were registered for the 1964 election.

Grosse Pointe Relaxes With Negro Neighbors

DETROIT (AP) — On the sidewalk in front of his home, 5-year-old Gordon Wright Jr., played ball with a neighborhood friend, also 5.

Inside, Mrs. Wright prepared dinner in the modern kitchen of the two-story red brick Colonial home.

Two other children — Joyce, 7, and Cheryl, 9 — were in nearby Perry Grammar School.

And the father, A. Gordon Wright, 36, prepared to wind up a busy day at the office so he could join his family in their new $40,000 home at Grosse Pointe Woods, a plush Detroit suburb.

It was a typical family pattern, repeated in thousands of American communities — except for one thing:

The Wrights are the first Negro family to live in the neighborhood.

When they moved in about two months ago, they were the targets of hostility and harassment.

"There were cranks going up and down the street — walking, driving, shouting 'nigger, get out—and I just couldn't conceive of running into this sort of thing in 1966," said Wright, regional director of the federal Economic Development Administration and son of a Cleveland millionaire.

All is serene now, Wright said.

"We're being treated with friendliness and courtesy, and our two girls have had no problems in school," he said. "There have been no further incidents."

Other residents of Grosse Pointe Woods agree.

"The Wrights seem to have been accepted as just another new family in the neighborhood," said Circuit Judge Blair Moody Jr., chairman of the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council.

"I'm not suggesting, though, that the problem has been completely resolved," added Moody, who lives about six blocks from the Wrights.

The problem is the fear of some homeowners that property values automatically drop when Negroes move into a neighborhood.

Whites March In Negro Area

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A segregation group's march to a downtown Negro district touched off rock-throwing and raised some question whether a similar march scheduled tonight would be permitted.

Some windows were broken and a dozen automobiles were stoned Sunday night as crowds of Negroes gathered at the approach of Warren Folks, a Jacksonville barber and militant segregationist, and 11 followers.

Folks and his group, which included two women, carried placards that criticized integration and assignment of Negro policemen to downtown beats.

Another Meeting Scheduled On Acquiring Airport Land

Another meeting to discuss, acquisition of privately owned land for airport purposes has been scheduled for 2 p. m. today by the Pickaway County Commissioners.

The solons will meet at the commission office with members of the Croman family who own land adjacent to the Pickaway County Home farm. Members of local Airport Advisory Committee also have been invited.

Negotiations will focus on various factors concerning the county's desire to secure about 15 acres owned by the Cromans. This land would be combined with about 30 acres of county-owned property to comprise an airport site.

Initial negotiations included a proposal by the Croman family to trade land. However, Prosecutor Robert H. Huffer has voiced an opinion that the county does not have legal authority to do this.

IN OTHER business today, the board approved an application from the City of Circleville to install a one-inch water service line in the vicinity of Old Route 23. The line is to extend to the new Church of Christ building site on the west side of the highway.

Ervin F. Leist, city public utilities head, said the service line does not represent an extension of a water main. He termed it an extension of service that already exists in the area.

Leist said such service already has been provided at several other locations bordering the city.

Raymond Hott, Route 3, was hired to erect an awning over the rear door at the Welfare Building on E. Mound St. The cost of labor and material is not to exceed $100.

The resignation was accepted today by Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners. The termination also became effective today.

Shepler served as chairman of the Child Welfare Board. According to the commission, steps will be taken to name a replacement.

Shepler's resignation did not list any reasons for quitting.

Contract Vote Launched by GE Workers

NEW YORK (AP) — A sampling of voting by General Electric Co. employees across the country showed today a trend toward rejection of the firm's proposed new contract to replace one expiring at midnight Oct. 2.

Balloting began Sunday and will continue through the week. At some plants, only the rejection was announced by union leaders, without giving vote totals.

At plants where vote totals were supplied, the balloting generally was heavily in favor of rejecting GE's latest offer for a 38-month pact.

In Lynn, Mass., about 2,000 members of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers — largest of some 100 unions bargaining with GE — rejected the proposed pact.

Business agent Hugh McManus said: "An overwhelming majority of the membership (in Lynn and Everett, Mass., plants) expressed the opinion that the proposals were peanuts and not enough, that the 38-month contract proposal was out of the question."

Rifle Stolen From Home

The home of Dr. F. P. Dunlap, 454 N. Court St., was entered Sunday and a single shot .22 caliber rifle stolen.

A television set and radio were also taken from the home. They were later discovered in a garage at the rear of the house. Circleville Police are investigating.

Tying Ships

Gordon said he really got tired while straddling the nose of the Gemini 11 while it was linked to an Agena rocket they had captured in the world's quickest rendezvous. He looped the cord from the Agena to the Gemini for a later formation-flight experiment.

He called this the "biggest shock of my life."

Gordon explained that in simulations on earth he could do the experiment in about 30 seconds, but found it difficult in space to sit on the nose of the spaceship and use both hands.

"I was unable to sit on the spacecraft like I had done in Zero-G aircraft," he said. "I kept floating up."

Astronauts use airplanes on earth to take steep dives and simulate weightlessness for brief periods.

"All I had done in about 3 seconds (in simulations) turned out to be a monumental task of about 30 minutes," Gordon said. "It was easy to perform in training, but was really work in space."

Conrad described the quick rendezvous during which they caught an Agena during the very first orbit as "right on the money."

"The ground was a little late passing up the 1/2-second late lift-off time," he said. "As a result we were trailing two miles in displacement."

He also said they had a radar failure and went to a secondary, back-up solution to the chase.

"We came upon the Agena a little bit sooner than we expected in daylight," Conrad said, getting used to seeing a bright Agena while I couldn't see the instruments."

"Dick and I shot two or three per cent of fuel fusing around But, even with the bright sunlight high over the Pacific Ocean, they swept into formation flight in flawless fashion and drove the spaceship to a linkup by the time they passed over the United States."

Conrad and Gordon went on to spend three-record smashing days in space, driving Gemini 11 more than a million miles. They brought home a pocket full of "firsts."

Bombers Strike Gun Placements Along Rail Line

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. bomber pilots reported silencing 10 antiaircraft gun positions in North Viet Nam Sunday along a main rail line to Communist China.

During 127 bombing raids in the North, U.S. fliers also attacked four surface-to-air missile sites including one only nine miles northeast of Hanoi. Navy attack bombers reported destroying a North Vietnamese torpedo boat 50 miles northeast of Haiphong in the Tonkin Gulf.

Ground fighting in South Viet Nam dwindled to small and scattered actions after a weekend in which U.S., South Vietnamese and Korean forces reported more than 350 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed and 176 captured.

During the raids over the North, a U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down and the pilot is missing. It was the 386th plane reported lost in the war over North Viet Nam.

The antiaircraft gun positions knocked out by Air Force Thunderchiefs were part of a chain protecting the northeast rail artery 50 to 55 miles northeast of the Red capital, a U.S. spokesman said.

Navy planes from the aircraft carrier Coral Sea attacked three SAM sites in the Thnh Hoa area, and the spokesman said they heavily damaged all three. The fourth missile site, nine miles from Hanoi, was pounded by Air Force bombers.

U.S. Marines operating near the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam reported a possible kill of 60 North Vietnamese army regulars in a fierce fight Saturday. The Leathernecks were hard hit themselves, reporting moderate casualties.

In a predawn attack over the demilitarized zone Sunday, Air Force B52 bombers hammered North Vietnamese infiltration routes and supply and storage areas.

U.S. sources reported three helicopters lost in South Viet Nam Sunday, one by enemy groundfire, one by U.S. artillery fire and the other in a crash. Two crewmen were killed and two injured when one helicopter crashed in a mine field at Bien Hoa. Two persons aboard a helicopter knocked down by groundfire 21 miles southeast of Saigon were injured.

Three Men Hospitalized After Truck-Car Accident

Three men were hospitalized when a South Central REA truck and an automobile collided 10 miles southeast of Circleville on Route 56 at 9:05 p. m. Saturday.

Russell R. Gibbs, 47, of 108 Rosewood Ave. and Charles Wendall Davis, 36, Route 4, both employees of the electric company, were returning from a trouble call when the accident occurred.

As they neared the crest of a hill, a car believed to have been operated by James Millard Vandergriff, 18, veered out of control and skidded into the truck, officers said.

Gibbs, driver of the truck, sustained a lacerated lower lip, multiple rib fractures and other injuries. Davis was hospitalized with a contusion of the nose, leg and back injuries.

VANDERGRIFF suffered facial lacerations and possible internal injuries.

The accident is still under investigation by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

The car caught on fire and was burned extensively. The Laurelvill Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene.

Davis was thrown from the truck and it rolled on top of him, deputies said.

Two other injury accidents were investigated Sunday by the sheriff's department.

Ray Swisher, 43, Columbus, can credit seat belts with saving him from anything more serious than a dislocated thumb, according to Deputy Charles Jones.

Swisher was driving a small convertible sports car. Jones said the vehicle rolled completely over when Swisher swerved to avoid striking an auto driven by Jean M. Hedges, 28, Ashville.

Swisher had his seat belt fastened. The accident was on the Circleville-Groveport Road nine miles north of Circleville.

Steve L. Ross, 19, Lockbourne, was cited for reckless operation after his auto crashed into a fence on State Route 762 8½ miles north of Circleville.

He told Deputy Jones he was shifting gears when he lost control on a slick spot in the road.

Michael Greeno, Ashville, a passenger in Ross' car, sustained a laceration of the scalp. The accident occurred at 12:30 p. m. Sunday.

Swisher was driving a small convertible sports car. Jones said the vehicle rolled completely over when Swisher swerved to avoid striking an auto driven by Jean M. Hedges, 28, Ashville.

Swisher had his seat belt fastened. The accident was on the Circleville-Groveport Road nine miles north of Circleville.

Whites March In Negro Area

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A segregation group's march to a downtown Negro district touched off rock-throwing and raised some question whether a similar march scheduled tonight would be permitted.

Some windows were broken and a dozen automobiles were stoned Sunday night as crowds of Negroes gathered at the approach of Warren Folks, a Jacksonville barber and militant segregationist, and 11 followers.

Folks and his group, which included two women, carried placards that criticized integration of a city swimming pool and assignment of Negro policemen to downtown beats.

Another Meeting Scheduled On Acquiring Airport Land

Another meeting to discuss acquisition of privately owned land for airport purposes has been scheduled for 2 p. m. today by the Pickaway County Commissioners.

The solons will meet at the commission office with members of the Croman family who own land adjacent to the Pickaway County Home farm. Members of local Airport Advisory Committee also have been invited.

Negotiations will focus on various factors concerning the county's desire to secure about 15 acres owned by the Cromans. This land would be combined with about 30 acres of county-owned property to comprise an airport site.

Initial negotiations included a proposal by the Croman family to trade land. However, Prosecutor Robert H. Huffer has voiced an opinion that the county does not have legal authority to do this.

IN OTHER business today, the board approved an application from the City of Circleville to install a one-inch water service line in the vicinity of Old Route 23. The line is to extend to the new Church of Christ building site on the west side of the highway.

Ervin F. Leist, city public utilities head, said the service line does not represent an extension of a water main. He

Gordon said he really got tired while straddling the nose of the Gemini 11 while it was linked to an Agena rocket they had captured in the world's quickest rendezvous. He looped the cord from the Agena to the Gemini for a later formation-flight experiment.

He called this the "biggest shock of my life."

Gordon explained that in simulations on earth he could do the experiment in about 30 seconds, but found it difficult in space to sit on the nose of the spaceship and use both hands.

"I was unable to sit on the spacecraft like I had done in Zero-G aircraft, he said. "I kept floating up."

Astronauts use airplanes on earth to take steep dives and simulate weightlessness for brief periods.

"All I had done in about 3 seconds (in simulations) turned out to be a monumental task of about 30 minutes," Gordon said. "It was easy to perform in training, but was really work in space."

Conrad described the quick rendezvous during which they caught an Agena during the very first orbit as "right on the money."

"The ground was a little late passing up the ½-second late lift-off time," he said. "As a result we were trailing two miles in displacement."

He also said they had a radar failure and went to a secondary, back-up solution to the chase.

"We came upon the Agena a little bit sooner than we expected in daylight," Conrad said, getting used to seeing a bright Agena while I couldn't see the instruments."

"Dick and I shot two or three per cent of fuel fusing around. But, even with the bright sunlight high over the Pacific Ocean, they swept into formation flight in flawless fashion and drove the spaceship to a linkup by the time they passed over the United States."

Conrad and Gordon went on to spend three-record smashing days in space, driving Gemini 11 more than a million miles. They brought home a pocket full of "firsts."

Bombers Strike Gun Placements Along Rail Line

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. bomber pilots reported silencing 10 antiaircraft gun positions in North Viet Nam Sunday along a main rail line to Communist China.

During 127 bombing raids in the North, U.S. fliers also attacked four surface-to-air missile sites including one only nine miles northeast of Hanoi. Navy attack bombers reported destroying a North Vietnamese torpedo boat 50 miles northeast of Haiphong in the Tonkin Gulf.

Ground fighting in South Viet Nam dwindled to small and scattered actions after a week-end in which U.S., South Vietnamese and Korean forces reported more than 350 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed and 176 captured.

During the raids over the North, a U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down and the pilot is missing. It was the 386th plane reported lost in the war over North Viet Nam.

The antiaircraft gun positions knocked out by Air Force Thunderchiefs were part of a chain protecting the northeast rail artery 50 to 55 miles northeast of the Red capital, a U.S. spokesman said.

Navy planes from the aircraft carrier Coral Sea attacked three SAM sites in the Thnh Hoa area, and the spokesman said they heavily damaged all three. The four missiles site, nine miles from Hanoi, was pounded by Air Force bombers.

U.S. Marines operating near the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam reported a possible kill of 60 North Vietnamese army regulars in a fierce fight Saturday. The Leathernecks were hard hit themselves, reporting moderate casualties.

In a predawn attack over the demilitarized zone Sunday, Air Force B52 bombers hammered North Vietnamese infiltration routes and supply and storage areas.

U.S. sources reported three helicopters lost in South Viet Nam Sunday, one by enemy groundfire, one by U.S. artillery fire and the other in a crash. Two crewmen were killed and two injured when one helicopter crashed in a mine field at Bien Hoa. Two persons aboard a helicopter knocked down by groundfire 21 miles southeast of Saigon were injured.

Flood waters continued to rise in the Mekong Delta, reaching rooftops in some sections of the hard-hit provinces of Chau Doc, An Giang, Kien Phong and Kien

Long. Some 20,000 Vietnamese have been made homeless and thousands more face evacuation, but no deaths have been reported.

The first armed forces television station in a combat zone in Viet Nam was formally opened in a tape-cutting ceremony Sunday at Qui Nhon. The station, which eventually will operate 56 hours a week, will beam news and American television programs to some 24,000 U.S. troops in the area.

China Puts Stress On Militia Force

TOKYO (AP) — A Manchurian cable worker scowls fiercely. Children in Kwangtung Province tumble from cliffs. Mongolian misses charge on horseback. Shanghai girls in pigtails squint.

Widely separated in age, sex, occupation and distance, these Chinese have one thing in common: They are members of Communist China's militia, the reserves behind the new strong man, Lin Piao.

Lin organized the militia in 1958 as Mao Tse-tung's answer to those who said fighting was for soldiers only, not for amateurs. Its formation touched off opposition from the professional soldiers, led by Marshal Peng Teh-huai. In the purge that followed, Lin succeeded to Peng's job as defense minister.

In recent months, the militia has come under renewed fire. And Mao, with Lin behind him, seems to have won again.

Mao and Lin may just possibly have believed in 1958 that the militia would serve as the Communist party's counterweight to the army. It was originally scheduled — on paper at least — to total 200 million men and women, and be placed under party control.

During the lean years following collapse of the industrial "great leap forward," the militia declined. Today it is less a military force than a psychological weapon to keep the Chinese on their toes.

It does this by giving military training to peasants, factory workers, clerks, government employees, school children. The Kwangtung boys and girls who fell down the cliffs were on a militia mountain-climbing expedition. The Manchurian cable worker scowled because he was making a bayonet charge. The Mongolian girls were doing what comes naturally in the land of Genghis Khan and the Shanghai girls were looking down the barrel of a Soviet rifle as part of their drill in a spinning mill.

No one knows how many of the originally planned 200 million Chinese are part of the militia. Travelers report, however, that the militia are everywhere. That they add up to very little as a military force seems to be the logical deduction from the fact that many of them use wooden rifles, broomsticks, or antiquated Soviet models to drill with. Though they go through the motions, they seldom if ever fire live ammunition.

Lin Piao's Liberation Army Daily says these are the basic duties of the militia:

1. To take an active part in building the country and in industrial and agricultural production;
2. To help the army in coastal, frontier and air defense, ferreting out spies and maintaining order;
3. To prepare for army service in wartime.

Arsonist Hits Negro's Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — In suburban Westlake, which has no Negroes among its 15,000 residents, authorities were looking today for an arsonist who set fire to a house purchased for a Negro church executive.

The pre-dawn fire Saturday caused an estimated $15,000 damage to a ranch-type house the Ohio Society of Christian Churches had purchased for $23,250 from a white owner, who moved out Friday.

The Rev. John R. Compton of Cincinnati, the society's associate secretary and the first Negro to hold that office, had planned to move into the home next Wednesday.

Westlake Mayor Alexander R. Roman said a back door of the house had been forced open and that a volatile liquid was spread through the breezeway and over the living room carpet.

CLEVELAND (AP) — In suburban Westlake, which has no Negroes among its 15,000 residents, authorities were looking today for an arsonist who set fire to a house purchased for a Negro church executive.

The pre-dawn fire Saturday caused an estimated $15,000 damage to a ranch-type house the Ohio Society of Christian Churches had purchased for $23,250 from a white owner, who moved out Friday.

The Rev. John R. Compton of Cincinnati, the society's associate secretary and the first negro to hold that office, had planned to move into the home next Wednesday.

Westlake Mayor Alexander R. Roman said a back door of the house had been forced open and that a volatile liquid was spread through the breezeway and over the living room carpet.

State Patient Dies

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A body found Saturday on a farm near Athens State Hospital was identified Sunday as that of Joseph Harter, 34, a patient who vanished from the institution three months ago, Sheriff H. E. Shields reported. Death was from natural causes.

The Kingston Young Mother's Club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. John D. Greenwalt, with Mrs. Greenwalt presiding over the business meeting. A Bake Sale was discussed and it was decided to hold one at the Big Bear store in Chillicothe Mall, Oct. 8. Mrs. Frank Wolfe received the mystery gift. There is to be no meeting Oct. 16, but instead the members will enjoy a hay ride.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Herbert Griesheimer and Mrs. Ronald Leaningham. Other members attending who were not mentioned were Mrs. John Hampp, Mrs. Guy Norman and Mrs. Paul R. Davis.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Kreisel were their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kreisel Galloway.

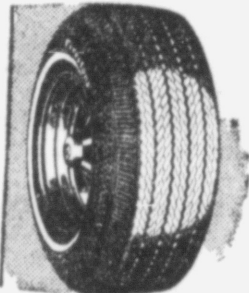

Two birthdays in the Kerns family were celebrated Wednesday evening with private dinner parties. Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hampp and son, Johnny, were hosts at a dinner in Chillicothe for their grandmother, Mrs. Rufus Kerns' birthday. Mr. Kerns was also a guest.

Brian Kerns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kerns, had a birthday on the same day and he was taken out to dinner in Chillicothe by his parents.

Autumn

Summer has again slipped into the embrace of autumn, as it annually does when September is threefourths gone. Most Americans hail autumn for what a poet once called it, "The Sabbath of the year." Its air is tonic, its scenery majestic, its philosophy that of reward for effort.

The melancholy theme of autumn, voiced by a philosopher in another century, figuratively presents "the flowers fading like our hopes, the leaves falling like our years, the light diminishing like our intelligence, the sun growing colder like our affections —

Driving Hazards

Frequently there are stories in the news of small children killed or seriously injured by automobiles being backed out of private driveways. They should serve as a reminder to all motorists of the need for extra care whenever young children are around a car and whenever the difficult operation of driving a car out of a driveway is being undertaken.

Tiny children do not recognize the all bearing secret relations to our destinies."

Such dour rumination neglects the essential parallel. The process of natural decay is inherent in all life. As colorful plant life bows and surrenders when its fruit is ripe, only to be renewed in another season, so man lives, strives, dies and strives again within the cycles of eternity.

Autumn is a shift of life from one sphere to another, as the birds change climates. While that process is on, it offers the grandest panorama in the year's round.

TOKYO, Japan — Having failed to establish its once-vaunted "co-prosperity sphere" by war, the Japanese are quietly working to build good will all along the oceanic rim of East Asia with the aim of gaining an "elder brother" position by peace. After the slaughter of the Communists in Indonesia, Japan picks up the tab on a temporary basis to tide the non-Communist Indonesians over a period of consolidation. A joint economic ministerial conference is held in Seoul, the capital of South Korea, to discuss fishing loans and Japanese cooperation with the Republic of Korea's Second Five-Year Plan.

As for helping South Vietnam, the Japanese refrain from sending troops, partly because the post-World War II Constitution prohibits the very existence of a Japanese army, but also because Tokyo wants to erase the memory of 1935-1945 militarism. Everywhere along the perimeter facing Red China, the Japanese effort is to politeness, to assuage, and to win by subtlety what could not be won by brutality.

Good will, of course, is not won by playing the over-generous benefactor. To keep the flavor of Lord Bountiful and Honorable Beggar out of touristic live, tipping is frowned upon in Japanese hotels and restaurants in favor of a regulated charge in the bill. The result is a beautiful courtesy between native host and foreign guest that adds tremendously to the relaxation of life while traveling in Japan. With this feeling about the fitness of things, the Japanese could very well regard the architects of the American Foreign Aid program as they regard an effusive tipper. A

IRVING HOFFMAN tells this revealing story about Tallulah Bankhead. The tempestuous star had been the toast of the town for months for her performance in Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth" when she ran into her old friend Estelle Winwood. After the usual Bankhead salute of 21 "Daahlings," Tallulah commanded, "You must come see me this very evening in 'The Skin of Our Teeth.' I'm divine! There isn't another actress in America who could play the part with such vitality, verve, and sparkling, sardonic wit. Mind you, Daahling, I'm not saying these things about myself! These are only a few of the raves of the critics!"

Taken aback, Miss Winwood gasped, "Tallulah, how can you stand there boasting about yourself like that? Have you no modesty at all?" Whereupon Tallulah hung her head and turned into the little girl who had sallied forth from Alabama years earlier to seek fame and fortune on the stage. "I said all those things, Estelle," she confessed, "because in my heart I'm not sure I'm any good at ALL in the darn part!"

Whiplash — "Cervical Myofascitis"

DR. HERMAN H. SHUTTLEWORTH
Chiropractor

We have received many requests for a repeat of this article written several weeks ago. It concerned severe neck pain, chest and shoulder pains, violent sick headaches, and a feeling of nausea.

The following is just such a case from the files:

A forty-six year old female rushed into a chiropractor's office crying and holding her head exclaiming, "The top of my head is coming off — please do something!"

Emergency treatment was rendered and within a few minutes her head eased for the first time in two weeks.

She had these symptoms, along with neck, shoulder, and arm pains, but nothing seemed to help. And lately, her arm grew numb, and tingled. After an examination and case history, it was revealed, several years ago, she had an auto accident and suffered a whiplash type blow to her cervical spine.

X-rays were immediately taken and several displaced vertebrae in her neck and between shoulders were found. These misaligned vertebrae compressed spinal nerve trunks, causing her miserable pains. After complete correction of the cause, her symptoms vanished.

This woman suffered unnecessary pain for years because she neglected a chiropractic examination at the time of her accident. This could have been prevented and she would have lived a much happier, healthier life.

The chiropractic profession urges a spinal examination by your chiropractor after any auto accident. Insurance companies honor chiropractic claims.

Presented in the public interest for better health through chiropractic.

To keep the flavor of Lord Bountiful and Honorable Beggar out of touristic live, tipping is frowned upon in Japanese hotels and restaurants in favor of a regulated charge in the bill. The result is a beautiful courtesy between native host and foreign guest that adds tremendously to the relaxation of life while traveling in Japan. With this feeling about the fitness of things, the Japanese could very well regard the architects of the American Foreign Aid program as they regard an effusive tipper. A guide in the "old" Japanese city of Kyoto, in refusing my offer to compensate him for an extra hour of time, laughed and told me not to behave like the American Foreign Aid people.

With such attitudes prevailing in Japan, the Tokyo sessions of the Mont-Perlin Society conference of international economists that was devoted to dealing with the underdeveloped parts of the world was followed with noticeable avidity by the Japanese members. Three of the non-Japanese Mont-Perlins — Otto von Habsburg of Austria, Professor B. R. Shenoy of Bombay, India, and Professor P. T. Bauer of England — made remarkable speeches that called into question the practical utility of much of the American foreign aid of recent years. Professor Bauer set the pitch of the discussion by exploring the connection between foreign aid on a government-to-government basis and the continued pauperization of the people of the recipient nations. External aid, he said, had come to be so taken for granted by Algeria, Burma, Ceylon, Ghana, India, Indonesia and the United Arab Republic that these countries have come to regard the "development deficiency" appropriation by Washington, D. C., as akin to a natural right.

Picking up from this point, Professor Shenoy observed that the recipient countries which depend on government aid seldom put their currencies in order. With the imposition of import restrictions made necessary by the over-valuation of their currencies, these countries have had to ration foreign exchange. The exporters are limited in turn because foreigners resent the import controls. The result is that new businesses develop slowly, and begging for foreign aid become chronic.

Otto von Habsburg, a first-rate journalist and student of foreign affairs who would be Emperor of Austria today if Austria were still a monarchy, told of his extensive travels in Africa, where the West prefers to reward the rantings of a Nasser or a Sekou Toure to dealing with statesmen like Houphouet-Boigny or Kenyatta, who counsel their people to work hard, to build, to save, and to keep the peace. Taking his cue from the comparative histories of the Republic of China on Taiwan and India, Otto von Habsburg laid it down as axiomatic that agricultural development must come before industrialization in the poor sections of the world.

The von Habsburg theme was enthusiastically endorsed by Sohei Nakayama, one of the Japanese participants in the session. Nakayama referred to the land reform success of Taiwan, and to the improvements in rice breeding in Malaysia and in American maize cultivation in Thailand, as prerequisites to industrial "take-off."

This put the Japanese on the common-sense beam in foreign aid thinking. When they assume responsibility for their part of the world, they will surely avoid American foolishness as a matter of course.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is bronchiectasis the same as a chronic bronchitis?

They are two totally different conditions even though they are in some ways related.

A long standing chronic bronchitis may sometimes become complicated and develop into bronchiectasis. This order is an enlargement of the ends of the bronchial tubes. It may occur in one lung, both lungs or in segments of each. The most predominant symptom is a chronic cough with expectoration of large quantities of thick, infected material.

Chronic infection of the sinuses is one of the major reasons for the production of both bronchitis and bronchiectasis.

The progress of a long standing cough from a simple condition to a complicated, serious one emphasizes the need to find and treat the underlying cause early.

By what tests can a doctor find out if the circulation of the blood in the feet and legs is normal?

Doctors frequently suspect some difficulty with the blood circulation after listening to a patient speak of his symptoms.

For example, cramps in the legs after walking a short distance, a bluish discoloration of the feet and swelling of the ankles highly suggest poor circulation and the need for severe testing.

An instrument called the oscillometer very accurately measures the flow of blood through the arteries to the thigh, the legs and the feet. By measuring the strength of the pulsations the instrument can tell if there is any obstruction to the normal flow of blood.

Another test, the arteriogram is an X-ray study of the arteries while a special dye is passing through them. Still further tests can accurately measure the speed with which an injected substance can pass through the entire body. One such test starts when a chemical is injected into the arm and finishes when there is within a few seconds the sudden odor of garlic on the breath. Many more ingenious tests reveal most of the secrets of the blood circulation in all parts of the body.

Inflation now has become a basic issue in almost every home, the White House included.

So all-pervading is it that seldom can you consider the war in Viet Nam, disturbing as it is, without also considering the inflationary impact at home of our heavy military spending.

Military, government, consumer, business and labor have been competing hard for the nation's available goods and services, and in some instance the rising cost of certain products is a reflection of this.

The cost of living index shows these higher prices concentrated in an area disturbing to householders, in food for example, in items such as milk, bread, eggs, bacon. The housewife remembers she had been told food prices would drop. She is angry.

Moreover, vacations cost more this year and medical bills went way up. Back-to-school clothes cost more in some areas than they did during the summer. And compared with a year ago clothing was up substantially.

All this is causing a few arguments around the kitchen table after the kids are in bed. The conclusion often is this: "We need more money." Thus, more pressure is generated on upcoming labor talks.

And look at what's ahead: In October alone contracts expire at General Electric Co., 80,000 workers; Westinghouse, 55,000; and Bell Telephone, 91,300. In January the Lady Garment Worker contract expires, 81,000, and in March the Teamsters, about 340,000.

Auto labor contracts don't come up for renewal for a year, but the heat already is on.

In many areas of the economy there is a dearth of credit available and the goods aren't always there either. Neither are the guideposts present to restrain wages and prices. But demand seems to be present.

In theory, nothing now can stop labor form demanding a wage increase and business from seeking a price rise. And, in trip-acation fashion, one frequently sets off the other.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Your Health Through Chiropractic
Whiplash — "Cervical Myofascitis"
DR. HERMAN H. SHUTTLEWORTH
Chiropractor

We have received many requests for a repeat of this article written several weeks ago. It concerned severe neck pain, chest and shoulder pains, violent sick headaches, and a feeling of nausea.

The following is just such a case from the files:

A forty-six year old female rushed into a chiropractor's office crying and holding her head exclaiming, "The top of my head is coming off — please do something!"

Emergency treatment was rendered and within a few minutes her head eased for the first time in two weeks.

She had these symptoms, along with neck, shoulder, and arm pains, but nothing seemed to help. And lately, her arm grew numb, and tingled. After an examination and case history, it was revealed, several years ago, she had an auto accident and suffered a whiplash type blow to her cervical spine.

X-rays were immediately taken and several displaced vertebrae in her neck and between shoulders were found. These misaligned vertebrae compressed spinal nerve trunks, causing her miserable pains. After complete correction of the cause, her symptoms vanished.

This woman suffered unnecessary pain for years because she neglected a chiropractic examination at the time of her accident. This could have been prevented and she would have lived a much happier, healthier life.

The chiropractic profession urges a spinal examination by your chiropractor after any auto accident. Insurance companies honor chiropractic claims.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Peace is our passion," President Johnson said more than a year ago, talking about Viet Nam. But it has been a bleak pursuit. Peace is still as elusive as a mouse on a beach.

Things perked up, in bits and pieces, getting nowhere back in 1965 which was a very busy year for empty peace talk.

In March of that year Johnson said the North Vietnamese must stop their intervention in South Viet Nam as a precondition for peace negotiations.

And Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the North Vietnamese would have to give some indication they were prepared to stop what they were doing before any peace talks could begin.

Then on April 7 in a major speech Johnson said the United States was ready for unconditional talks with North Viet Nam but at the very moment he was saying it he laid down conditions.

He said the essentials of any final settlement were "an independent South Viet Nam, securely guaranteed and able to shape its own relationships to all others, free from any outside interference, tied to no alliance, a military base for no country."

The North Vietnamese gave this the ha-ha. They said Johnson's proposal smelled of poison gas and made a proposal of their own, a four-point program, from which they haven't deviated an inch since.

Among other things, Hanoi said, the United States must withdraw all its forces from South Viet Nam, although it wasn't clear whether the Communists meant before peace talks began or before there could be a settlement.

And the third of the four points was a dilly: Hanoi said the internal affairs of South Viet Nam must be settled by the South Vietnamese people themselves in accordance with the program of the Viet Cong, whom the South Vietnamese were fighting because they didn't want a Viet Cong program.

The U.S. State Department immediately took a dim view of Hanoi's ideas. At the moment, it seemed, sitting down to talk peace with the Viet Cong looked unthinkable, which is about what Hanoi was demanding.

But later Rusk said the United States would be willing to hold discussions with the Viet Cong but those guerrillas could not be a primary part in negotiations. As time passed the American attitude on this changed.

Johnson said later this would not be an insurmountable problem. But nothing happened. Then late last year Johnson suspended the bombing of North Viet Nam targets while he sent his top emissaries to capitals around the world, talking peace. But the North Vietnamese didn't talk back.

And on Jan. 31, 1966, after a 36-day pause, Johnson ordered the bombing resumed. Later in the year he ordered the bombing stepped up, this time against North Viet Nam's oil depots. The pressure on him to find peace became intense.

For one thing, much of the world didn't like the war. A lot of Americans didn't like it. And the war was gorging itself on billions of American dollars which could be used at home.

Last week U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, made a plea for peace before that body and a couple of days later Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made a proposal.

As a preliminary to negotiations, he said, the United States would stop bombing the North if it just got assurance that North Viet Nam would start cutting down on its war effort.

This looked like another American concession. Instead of wanting proof that North Viet Nam would pull back its troops if the United States stopped bombing, this country was willing to settle for assurances — although it wouldn't take long to find out if North Viet Nam was living up to its assurances.

But Russia quickly brushed this proposal aside. And North Viet Nam rejected it as hypocritical.

Car 'Cannibalism' Business Becomes Widespread Crime

CLEVELAND (AP)—A man drives into an auto repair shop and asks for an estimate of the cost to fix his car.

The mechanic says the car needs new valves and makes a reasonable estimate. So the customer asks that the repairs be made and leaves his car at the shop. Two days later, the work is done.

The customer picks up his car, pays the mechanic and drives away. The car runs well. The customer is happy. The mechanic is happy.

And the thieves who stripped the valves from a stolen car are happy. Their business is flourishing. They fill "orders" for auto parts by stripping automobiles.

"There are many unscrupulous places of business that will buy from a person selling stolen auto parts," said Sgt. John R. Farrell, head of the Cleveland Police Department's auto theft unit.

"Today you can probably buy stolen parts at any number of outlets throughout Greater Cleveland," he said.

"This is different from what it used to be. Years ago only certain places carried stolen parts."

The Journal of American Insurance has reported that most auto parts strippers—called car "cannibals"—give two-day delivery service and provide phony receipts from legitimate suppliers to protect their customers from arrest.

This "cannibalism" flourishes not only in Cleveland but throughout Ohio and the United States. Autos are stripped of virtually everything that can be stripped, from dashboard compartments to steering wheels to bucket seats, high-speed transmissions and even complete engines.

Police in Ohio bemoan the fact that automobile engine numbers have not been recorded on certificates of title since 1955.

This, Farrell notes, makes it difficult to trace stolen autos and the parts that have been stripped from them. Because of this, it is virtually impossible to match up a stolen car with its original engine.

Farrell said 1966 appears to be the heaviest year in history for "losing" cars out of Cleveland. "Losing" cars, he said, means cars that simply disappear from the street, a garage or a parking lot and are never seen again.

These, he said, usually are stolen and transported to states where registration and title laws are relaxed, such as Tennessee, Alabama and Florida.

These cars are repainted and their serial numbers replaced with serial numbers from other cars. There have even been cases, he said, in which counterfeit serial numbers have been used on stolen autos.

Occasionally, Farrell pointed out, there is a case in which someone will badly damage an older car. Before abandoning it on a street, the owner removes the serial number plate from the door jamb on the driver's side.

When he spots a car like the one he has wrecked, he steals it and replaces its serial number with the number from his wrecked auto. It is difficult then to prove the car is not his, Farrell said.

Hepburn, Tracy Combination Slated in Social Comedy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer Stanley Kramer announced today he will reunite Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy in a "social comedy," "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," which will also star Sidney Poitier.

The Columbia production will start shooting in February with a script written by William Rose, author of Kramer's "It's a Mad World" and of the current "The Russians Are Coming." Kramer will direct location scenes in San Francisco and interiors in Hollywood.

Tracy hasn't made a movie since 1963 when he was stricken with a lung ailment as he was about to drive off for a picnic with Miss Hepburn. Last year he underwent a prostate operation, and his condition was critical for a 24-hour period.

"I'm feeling fine," Tracy said in a recent interview, his pink Irish face beaming and he looked it.

"I read in TV Guide about television actors who turn down

30-35 movie scripts," he muttered. "Well, I haven't turned down 30-35. I haven't been offered 30-35. I turned down a couple, and they were made, and I can't say I was sorry I turned them down."

"I also have had offers to do TV specials. One was a good script. I accepted it, but Abe Lastfogel (his agent) didn't. An other actor is doing the show, and I don't want to mention his name, which happens to be Jason Robards. They couldn't meet my price, and I told them that when I do go into television, I'm going to overcharge a great deal."

"Oh, yes. I also got a letter from William Dozier, saying perhaps I had some grandchildren who would be thrilled to have me do a cameo in 'Batman.' My reply cited what Maggie Sullivan said when she was offered a Hardy family picture. She said, 'I'll do one when it is titled "Death Comes to Hardy family."'

"And I'll do a Batman when it's called 'Death Comes to Batman.'"

WE'RE GETTING OUT OF TOWN

... 'CAUSE MOM'S GOT A NEW FLAME!

All the relatives are talking. For the first time in years, the whole family is leaving town on a well-earned vacation... thanks to Mom's new flame. (A hard working, good-looking, clean-cut type. Really sweet-talked Mom. Even convinced Dad.) Mom's new flame is her new Gas furnace. And this dependable new Gas furnace is slashing those heating bills to about one-third the cost of the electric heating they had in their old house. Gas heat is saving Dad up to several hundred dollars each year in heating bills. And with that kind of money saved... live a little! After all, that modern Gas furnace will save more money next year... and more money the year after that... and the year after that...

Modern Gas heat not only warms the house, it warms the heart. It's a breath of clean, fresh air circulating throughout the house—including the basement. All this at about one-third the cost of heating with electricity. In just a few years you'll save enough to send someone to college. Think of all the things you can do with the money you save with Gas!

WE'RE GETTING OUT OF TOWN

... 'CAUSE MOM'S GOT A NEW FLAME!

All the relatives are talking.

For the first time in years, the whole family is leaving town on a well-earned vacation . . . thanks to Mom's new flame. (A hard working, good-looking, clean-cut type. Really sweet-talked Mom. Even convinced Dad.)

Mom's new flame is her new Gas furnace. And this dependable new Gas furnace is slashing those heating bills to about one-third the cost of the electric heating they had in their old house. Gas heat is saving Dad up to several hundred dollars each year in heating bills. And with that kind of money saved . . . live a little! After all, that modern Gas furnace will save more money next year . . . and more money the year after that . . . and the year after that . . .

Modern Gas heat not only warms the house, it warms the heart. It's a breath of clean, fresh air circulating throughout the house—including the basement.

All this at about one-third the cost of heating with electricity. In just a few years you'll save enough to send someone to college. Think of all the things you can do with the money you save with Gas!

COLUMBIA GAS OF OHIO

THINK OF ALL THE THINGS YOU CAN DO WITH THE MONEY YOU SAVE GAS MAKES THE BIG DIFFERENCE.

Dear Abby: Marriage Gets Bad Start

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Five weeks ago my daughter, 21, married a 29-year-old man. The day before the wedding, he announced he didn't want to get married for "personal" reasons. All the plans were made and my daughter's beautiful gown lay upstairs on her bed. She broke into tears so he agreed to go through with the wedding.

When it came time to cut the cake, the groom was nowhere to be found, which was very embarrassing. It seems he took the car and went riding around to "think things over." Since then my daughter has been miserable. She has a good job, but he sells on straight commission (no salary like he said he made) so she is practically supporting him.

He has two children by a previous marriage my daughter agreed to keep on weekends and vacations. Now, Abby, is this marriage worth saving?

HEARTSICK MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: That is for your daughter and her husband to decide. Her first mistake was in "going through" with the wedding, knowing the groom was unwilling.

Calling it off might have been embarrassing and costly, but not nearly so traumatic as the divorce which may be in your daughter's future. The couple should talk it over with their clergyman, and soon.

DEAR ABBY: What would you make of this? A girl friend of mine went to a party with her boy friend. She said it was a real lively party and she was having a swell time when all of a sudden her boy friend said, "Let's get out of here—this party is a flop."

He took her straight home at 10 o'clock. She found out later that HE went back to the party and stayed until 2 o'clock in the morning, and had the time of his life.

THE FRIEND'S FRIEND DEAR FRIEND: It's obvious. The boy friend had enough of your friend, but he didn't have enough of the party.

DEAR ABBY: How can a person avoid a situation like this without making himself look cheap?

My boy friend meets me every morning for coffee and a donut. Same time, same place—around the corner from where we work. Several of the guys and gals who work where we do sit with us because the place is always crowded. We don't mind that, but when the check comes nobody else makes a move to pay his share, so my big-hearted boy friend picks up the tab for everybody.

I suppose this sounds like I'm making a big deal out of nothing, but day by day it mounts up. Is there a way to get them to pay their share without looking cheap?

IRKED DEAR IRKED: Yes. When you order, ask the waitress for separate checks. That will separate the men from the moochers.

NEW YORK (AP) — So season "Bonanza," like the wrangler in its story Sunday night, will find that old age has overtaken it and it will have to step down from its position as the nation's most popular television program. But, from the looks of things, it won't happen this year.

The competition offered by the new Garry Moore show on CBS, one of the season's big disappointments so far, does not loom as much of a threat. And ABC's feature film rerun, shows spotty strength depending on the quality of the movie and the drawing power of its stars.

But, more important, "Bonanza" has developed a reliable format and shrewdly uses its likeable stars who are now old friends of the fans. There is a story each week that has plenty of action and you can tune in late any time and catch up quickly with the plot.

Sunday night's tale was a fine example of the shrewd handling of the whole series. The classic recipe for a good western is to start with a fight and end with a big fight — and just throw problems at the heroes in between. "Bonanza" did just that, starting with a slugging match between Little Joe and a couple of real mean trail hands.

He was saved in the nick of time by an old hand on the Ponderosa who after 50 years just wasn't as good on the trail as he used to be.

NBC's Telephone Hour in its new shape was a documentary filmed at the music festival at Spoleto, Italy, recently, providing an opportunity to tell the story of composer Gian Carl Menotti, his dream of bringing together fine musicians from both sides of the Atlantic — and toss in some fine music as well.

It was a colorful, pleasant hour.

ABC has postponed its "Stage 67" broadcast of an original musical, "Tympanus 70000," scheduled for Wednesday and will show instead a musical revue called "Where Its At."

Auxiliary Post 134 Scheduled To Meet

The American Legion Auxiliary Post 134 will meet 8 p. m. Monday in the Post Home.

A group of small pitchers, of clear glass or in harmonious shades of china or pottery, may be grouped, filled with flowers or leaves and used as a charming centerpiece for a dining table. Such pitchers — with some age, but not "antique" — may often be picked up at inexpensive prices.

Logan Elm Club Conducts Meet

The Logan Elm Child Conservation League met in the home of Mrs. Charles Boldoser Jr., Route 1, Laurelville, with nine members present.

Mrs. C. Boldoser Jr., chaplain, opened the meeting with a prayer. Mrs. George Minshall conducted the business meeting, which concluded the introduction of the new program for the coming year. Mrs. Edward Evans and her committee presented each member with program booklets styled as aprons.

Immediately following adjournment, Miss Sharon Sharrett presented slides of India and talked about her experiences as an exchange student in that country.

Ford Enters Royal Gunner In Woodward

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Ford is back in the Big Town. The personable sportsman from Omaha, Neb., is not riding quite as high as he was some four months ago when he was here with Kauai King the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, but the warning signs are out for Buckpasser. Tom Rolfe, Buffle and other top rated thoroughbreds who have designs on the $100,000-added Woodward at Aqueduct Saturday.

This time Ford is here with his one-horse stable, the 4-year-old Royal Gunner. He is listed as both owner and trainer of the sleek chestnut.

He sent the Gunner out in a six-furlong race at Aqueduct Saturday, watched him just miss in a run at Flag Raiser and quickly decided he'll go in the 1 1/4 miles of the Woodward. The weight-for-age conditions of the Woodward call for Royal Gunner to carry 126 pounds and give five pounds to the great Buckpasser and other 3-year-olds. Tom Rolfe, also a 4-year-old, will pack 126.

George D. Widener's Bold Hour moved ahead of the class in the wide-open battle for the 2-year-old title last Saturday when he beat the late closing Successor by one-half length in the 6 1/2 furlongs of the $147,120 Futurity.

Irish Teenagers Outshine Purdue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The leprechaun on the sidelines danced up and down every time 19-year-old Jim Seymour cradled one of 18-year-old Terry Hanratty's passes in his arms and loped downfield. It didn't take long for Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian to pick up the step.

Hanratty hit Seymour with an 84-yard scoring pitch that broke a 7-7 tie in the second period and the teen-age battery clicked for two more TDs later in the game as the eighth-ranked Irish whipped No. 7 Purdue 26-14 last Saturday.

The sophomore aerial act — cheered on by Notre Dame's leprechaun-clad cheerleaders — shared the collegiate football spotlight with UCLA's Gary Beban who engineered a 31-12 victory over Syracuse, Michigan State's backfield which ran over Penn State 42-8 and Alabama's defending national champions, who opened their season with a 34-0 rout of Louisiana Tech.

Parseghian knew his sophomores were good but he wasn't sure just how good. "I was afraid I might be over-rating them. I have been so high on those boys that I feared I might be overconfident."

Hanratty hit Seymour 13 times for 276 yards — both Notre Dame records for receptions and yardage and left Purdue Coach Jack Mollenkopf stunned.

"We weren't prepared for him," Mollenkopf admitted. Northwestern, where Parseghian coached before moving on to Notre Dame in 1964, gets the next look at Ara's prodigies Saturday.

Beban, UCLA's junior quarterback, strafed Syracuse with long bombs, most of them aimed at speedy Buzz Busby, a 10-year-old sophomore.

The Bruins, ranked second in The Associated Press Top Ten, scored three times inside of five minutes in the second period. Beban completed seven of 10 passes for 178 yards while the Uclan defense held fleet Floyd Little to only 20 yards rushing.

UCLA takes on Missouri, 21-14 comeback victor over Illinois, this week.

Top-ranked Michigan State got two TD passes from Jim Rave and its usual strong running game from Clint Jones and Bob Apisa against Penn State. The Spartans are at Illinois this Saturday.

Bear Bryant takes third-ranked Alabama into Mississippi Saturday after the Crimson Tide ripped Louisiana Tech. Nebraska, ranked fourth, rallied for 18 points in the final quarter and beat Utah State 28-7. The Huskers play Iowa Saturday.

Southern California, No. 5 in the rankings, led only 6-3 at halftime but rallied for five touchdowns in the second half and a 38-3 victory over Wisconsin. Oregon State is this week's opponent for USC.

Martin Bercher ran back a punt 64 yards igniting Arkansas, No. 6, to its 27-8 victory over Tulsa. The Razorbacks meet TCU this week.

Ninth-ranked Michigan defeated California 17-7 and Baylor, No. 10, was knocked off by Colorado 13-7.

Miss Ehret's 282 Takes Ladies PGA

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Gloria Ehret of Danbury, Conn., is the Ladies Professional Golf Association champion.

Miss Ehret won the Ladies' PGA Tournament Sunday with a score of 282, after finishing the fourth round with a four over par 75. She was awarded $2,475. Runner-up was Mickey Wright of Dallas whose final round 77 made a total of 285.

Holtzman Gets "A" From Cubs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ken Holtzman can forget about Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers. People such as Chaucer and Elizabeth Barrett Browning are more important now.

But Koufax and the Dodgers won't soon forget Holtzman.

The rookie left-hander out-pitched Koufax Sunday, holding the Dodgers hitless for eight innings and winding up with a two-hitter as the Chicago Cubs edged the National League leaders 2-1.

Despite the loss the Dodgers retained their 1 1/2-game lead over the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost to Atlanta 6-2. Thirdplace San Francisco remained four back by losing to Houston 5-4.

Holtzman's start was his last before returning to the University of Illinois where he is a senior majoring in English literature. He headed to school after pitching his best game of the season — a season which started out with him as a part-time player.

While attending classes in the spring he pitched for the Cubs on weekends. Still his 11 victories, against 15 defeats, are the most for a Chicago pitcher this year. His latest was too much for the Dodgers.

Until the ninth inning, the only Dodger baserunner was Dick Schofield, who walked in the third inning on a 3-2 pitch. Holtzman erased him on a double play so the 20-year-old southpaw had faced only the minimum 24 batters when Schofield led off the ninth with a single.

In other NL games, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 4-3 in 13 innings and New York downed Cincinnati 8-4 in the first game of a doubleheader. Rain washed out the second game.

In the American League California beat Baltimore 6-1, Minnesota defeated Detroit 1-0, Washington swept Chicago 6-4 and 2-1 in 11, New York trimmed Boston 3-1 and Cleveland topped Kansas City 4-2.

Koufax, now 25-9, gave up just four hits and only one in the first inning when the Cubs scored both of their runs. Don Kessinger walked and scored on Glenn Beckert's triple. Beckert scored when second baseman Jim Lefebvre dropped Ernie Banks' two out pop fly.

Hank Aaron hit two homers, giving him 42 for the season, and Mack Jones added his 21st as the Braves prevented the Pirates from moving up. The Pirates had the bases loaded and one out in the eighth inning, but Clay Carroll came on and stopped them with only one run.

Willie Mays and Willie McCovey gave Houston three unearned runs in the first two innings, but the Astros needed singles by Aaron Pointer, Bill Heath and Bob Aspromonte for the winning run in the sixth. That run broke a tie gained for the Giants by McCovey's two run homer.

Philadelphia's Rich Allen hit his 40th homer in the fourth inning, singled home the tying run in the ninth and singled across the winning run in the 13th against St. Louis.

The Mets clinched ninth place by beating Cincinnati. Cleon Jones drove in three New York runs while Ron Swoboda and Greg Goossen knocked in two each.

Holtzman Gets "A" From Cubs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ken Holtzman can forget about Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers. People such as Chaucer and Elizabeth Barrett Browning are more important now.

But Koufax and the Dodgers won't soon forget Holtzman. The rookie left-hander out-pitched Koufax Sunday, holding the Dodgers hitless for eight innings and winding up with a two-hitter as the Chicago Cubs edged the National League leaders 2-1.

Despite the loss the Dodgers retained their 1½-game lead over the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost to Atlanta 6-2. Thirdplace San Francisco remained four back by losing to Houston 5-4.

Holtzman's start was his last before returning to the University of Illinois where he is a senior majoring in English literature. He headed to school after pitching his best game of the season — a season which started out with him as a part-time player.

Ford Enters Royal Gunner In Woodward

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Ford is back in the Big Town.

The personable sportsman from Omaha, Neb., is not riding quite as high as he was some four months ago when he was here with Kauai King the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, but the warning signs are out for Buckpasser. Tom Rolfe, Buffle and other top rated thoroughbreds who have designs on the $100,000-added Woodward at Aqueduct Saturday.

This time Ford is here with his one-horse stable, the 4-year-old Royal Gunner. He is listed as both owner and trainer of the sleek chestnut.

He sent the Gunner out in a six-furlong race at Aqueduct Saturday, watched him just miss in a run at Flag Raiser and quickly decided he'll go in the 1¼ miles of the Woodward.

The weight-for-age conditions of the Woodward call for Royal Gunner to carry 126 pounds and give five pounds to the great Buckpasser and other 3-year-olds. Tom Rolfe, also a 4-year-old, will pack 126.

George D. Widener's Bold Hour moved ahead of the class in the wide-open battle for the 2-year-old title last Saturday when he beat the late closing Successor by one-half length in the 6½ furlongs of the $147,120 Futurity.

Irish Teenagers Outshine Purdue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The leprechaun on the sidelines danced up and down every time 19-year-old Jim Seymour cradled one of 18-year-old Terry Hanratty's passes in his arms and loped downfield. It didn't take long for Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian to pick up the step.

Hanratty hit Seymour with an 84-yard scoring pitch that broke a 7-7 tie in the second period and the teen-age battery clicked for two more TDs later in the game as the eighth-ranked Irish whipped No. 7 Purdue 26-14 last Saturday.

The sophomore aerial act — cheered on by Notre Dame's leprechaun-clad cheerleaders — shared the collegiate football spotlight with UCLA's Gary Beban who engineered a 31-12 victory over Syracuse, Michigan State's backfield which ran over Penn State 42-8 and Alabama's defending national champions, who opened their season with a 34-0 rout of Louisiana Tech.

Parseghian knew his sophomores were good but he wasn't sure just how good. "I was afraid I might be over-rating them. I have been so high on those boys that I feared I might be overconfident."

Hanratty hit Seymour 13 times for 276 yards — both Notre Dame records for receptions and yardage and left Purdue Coach Jack Mollenkopf stunned.

"We weren't prepared for him," Mollenkopf admitted. Northwestern, where Parseghian coached before moving on to Notre Dame in 1964, gets the next look at Ara's prodigies Saturday.

Beban, UCLA's junior quarterback, strafed Syracuse with long bombs, most of them aimed at speedy Buzz Busby, a 10-year-old sophomore.

The Bruins, ranked second in The Associated Press Top Ten, scored three times inside of five minutes in the second period. Beban completed seven of 10 passes for 178 yards while the UCLA defense held fleet Floyd Little to only 20 yards rushing.

UCLA takes on Missouri, 21-14 comeback victor over Illinois, this week.

Top-ranked Michigan State got two TD passes from Jim Rave and its usual strong running game from Clint Jones and Bob Apisa against Penn State. The Spartans are at Illinois this Saturday.

Bear Bryant takes third-ranked Alabama into Mississippi Saturday after the Crimson Tide ripped Louisiana Tech. Nebraska, ranked fourth, rallied for 18 points in the final quarter and beat Utah State 28-7. The Huskers play Iowa Saturday.

Southern California, No. 5 in the rankings, led only 6-3 at halftime but rallied for five touchdowns in the second half and a 38-3 victory over Wisconsin. Oregon State is this week's opponent for USC.

Martin Bercher ran back a punt 64 yards igniting Arkansas, No. 6, to its 27-8 victory over Tulsa. The Razorbacks meet TCU this week.

Ninth-ranked Michigan defeated California 17-7 and Baylor, No. 10, was knocked off by Colorado 13-7.

Miss Ehret's 282 Takes Ladies PGA

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Gloria Ehret of Danbury, Conn., is the Ladies Professional Golf Association champion.

Miss Ehret won the Ladies' PGA Tournament Sunday with a score of 282, after finishing the fourth round with a four over par 75. She was awarded $2,475.

Runner-up was Mickey Wright of Dallas whose final round 77 made a total of 285.

Cardinals "Feel Good" In Cleveland Stadium

CLEVELAND (AP)—Charley Johnson enjoys playing at Cleveland Municipal Stadium. He should.

The St. Louis Cardinals' quarterback hasn't lost here since 1962.

"I don't know why it is, but we all feel good here," Johnson said after the Cards trimmed the Cleveland Browns Sunday. Johnson, who fired three touchdown passes to help keep the Cardinals on top of the National Football League's Eastern Division, added:

"This is a great stadium. The Browns always give you a good test. It's easy for everyone to get in the right frame of mind coming here."

The Cardinals, who have a habit of coming from behind in their 3-0 record, used the Johnson was down 28-14 in the third quarter when he hit Jackie Smith with a 58-yard touchdown and Billy Gambrell with a nineyard to tie it.

Prentice Gautt, a former Brown, clinched it with a 23-yard burst up the middle with 9:18 left in the game. "No one touched me," Gautt said. "I couldn't believe it."

With a 1-2 record, Browns' Coach Blanton Collier said "We're still in it. Football teams have been in this position before and have come back to win."

"We have no excuse or alibis," Collier added. "We just got beat."

Elsewhere in the league, Green Bay beat Los Angeles 24-13, Dallas took Minnesota 28-17, Baltimore bombed San Francisco 36-14, Detroit bounced Atlanta 28-10, Philadelphia smothered New York 35-17 and Washington got past Pittsburgh 33-27.

Green Bay, now the only unbeaten team in the Western Division, had its troubles with the Rams before an 80-yard pass play from Bart Starr to Elijah Pitts iced the game. The Packers lost five fumbles in blowing a 17-0 lead.

Dallas remained unbeaten in the Eastern Division with three 80-yard scoring marches in each of the last three quarters. Cowboy quarterback Don Meredith completed just eight passes but two were good for touchdowns to Bob Hayes and Buddy Dial.

Lou Michaels tied an NFL record with five field goals and Alvin Haymond was tough on defense in the Baltimore victory. Michaels' kicks ranged from 23 to 41 yards and Haymond set up scores with two kick returns and a pass interception.

Milt Plum completed 13 of his first 16 passes and threw two scoring strikes as Detroit dealt Atlanta its third straight loss.

Norm Snead pitched three scoring passes and Philadelphia easily beat New York. Snead was 10 for 18 and 179 yards and Pete Retzlaff caught five passes for 120 yards and a touchdown.

Charley Gogolak kicked four field goals and Washington scored 24 points in the second half as the Redskins came from behind to beat Pittsburgh. Sonny Jurgensen passed for two touchdowns.

BG Gridder Is Paralyzed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Steve Beattie, Bowling Green High School quarterback injured in Saturday night's football game at Mansfield Madison, may be facing permanent paralysis from the neck down.

Young Beattie, 17, underwent a four-hour operation at University Hospital here Sunday but afterward doctors expressed pessimism.

Steve, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Beattie, sustained injury to a cervical vertebra (neck portion of the spine) when tackled while carrying the ball on a quarterback sneak in the third quarter.

He was paralyzed when brought to the hospital, where his father, an optometrist, said there appeared little hope for improvement of his condition.

Gunman Hunted In Four States

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — A four-state alert was out today for a man wanted for wounding a Campbell County policeman, involved in two gun battles with the man in two days.

The gunman was seen entering a blue car, eastbound on Ky. 8, after Sgt. Howard Baxter, 36, was shot in the shoulder and side Sunday, police said Baxter was reported in fair condition. Police said it was a possibility the gunman had commandeered the car, or that he may have hitched a ride. Witnesses said they had seen the man flag down the car, but police said they were inclined to disbelieve reports he had taken it by force.

Police in Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia and Indiana were alerted. The man was described as white and having a mustache. He is about 30 years old and was wearing dungarees and white tennis shoes.

Sgt. Baxter was shot while making a routine patrol of a weekend camping area near California, Ky. He said he had opened the flap of a tent and two shots rang out.

Baxter returned the fire as the man bolted from the tent and fled across railroad tracks onto the highway. Baxter said he believed he hit the man in the leg.

Baxter said he first encountered the man Saturday morning while patrolling the same area. The man was sitting on the railroad tracks then and as Baxter approached, the man fired two shots.

Baxter was not hit then, but one bullet pierced his pants leg. Baxter also fired back Saturday.

Driver John Farmer Bids Farewell after 37 Years

An Atlanta school bus driver for more than 37 years has retired.

John B. Farmer plans to devote more time to his painting and paper-hanging business in the Atlanta community. He began his bus driving career in the spring of 1929.

His first school bus was a Model-T Ford. His 37 years were continuous, with the exception of a few months in the army in the fall of 1943.

Peace . . .

(Continued from Page 1) ing zones. In only two have no schools been held although Cook said officers from police departments in these have attended schools in other zones.

The first school will be held next month in Zone 14 which includes Adams, Pike, Scioto, Jackson, Gallia, and Lawrence counties. Zone 9 will be the last to have a school. It includes Guernsey, Belmont, Noble, Monroe, Morgan, and Washington counties.

Ohio's larger cities have had successful training programs of their own for years. These now are taking on men from other departments on a tuition basis. In some cases it runs as high as $225 although in one, Columbus, it is only $12. Tuition must be paid by appointing departments, city councils, or county commissioners.

Cities which already had schools when the law became effective are Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Dayton, and Middletown. Cook says they trained about 250 of the 1,000 officers enrolled in the nine-month period.

That would mean that about 750 received training this year who would not have received it prior to the new law. Cook says about 60 per cent of the 750 were new recruits and the remainder officers who took the training voluntarily.

Under the law officers must take the training with one year after their appointment. The state has no enforcement powers to make local departments comply. But it does have means of detecting and bringing pressure on non-certifying departments through state audits of local payrolls, taking note of new employees.

Cook also points out that testimony in court cases by non-certified officers would be open to challenge because in the eyes of the state they would fail to qualify as peace officers.

JOHN B. FARMER

Farmer has at various times, driven all the routes to Atlanta School and for 30 years has driven basketball teams to all away games.

IN HIS 37 years of bus driving, Farmer is proud to claim an accident-free record.

Since the consolidation of schools and the opening of the new Westfall High School building, he has operated a dual route. He drives high school

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Actor Welcomed At LBJ Ranch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson's daughter Lynda Bird and actor George Hamilton had a water skiing, picnicking ranch date in Texas over the weekend and speculation heightened about their romance.

They were gay, smiling companions at the Johnson ranch but gave no hint of anything more serious than just another date.

Hamilton, 26, and Lynda, 22, flew to Texas from Hollywood to join a Johnson family reunion at the ranch with newlyweds Luci and Patrick J. Nugent and Nugent's brother, Marine Lt. Gerard P. Nugent Jr., just back from Viet Nam duty and vacationing with his wife, Phyllis.

The presence of Hamilton in this close family group was what gave a bit more importance to this weekend date. He was with the Johnsons on their flight back to the capital early today.

Lynda has been off on a visit to Hawaii with friends. She returned by way of California, where Hamilton squirmed her around and gave a Hollywood dinner party in her honor.

In recent weeks, both Lynda and Hamilton have been reported dating other friends.

Lynda was beaming when she turned up on Hamilton's arm to attend Sunday church services with her parents at Blanco, Tex., 14 miles from the LBJ ranch.

The young couple sat side by side in a pew with the Johnsons. Hamilton, a Christian Scientist, held the hymn and prayer books, and Lynda, an Episcopalian, leaned over his arm to read responses. Occasionally they exchanged smiling glances. The President spending a weekend at his ranch, was being ecumenical with his family. He went to 8 a.m. Mass at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church with the young Nugents.

TB Executive Group To Meet

Executive committee of the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. will meet 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Margaret Hickey, 420 Wood Lane.

Plans will be made for the TB skin testing and chest X-ray of positive reactors.

Mrs. Hickey noted that two registered nurses will be hired by the association to assist city and county health department workers in the program which is available as a result of Christmas seal donations.

who are Catholics. Then, at 11, he attended St. Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church with his wife, Lynda and Hamilton.

The President is a member of the Christian Church. When asked if he would go to his own church, too, the President smilingly replied:

"All of them are mine."

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — A four-state alert was out today for a man wanted for wounding a Campbell County policeman, involved in two gun battles with the man in two days.

The gunman was seen entering a blue car, eastbound on Ky. 8, after Sgt. Howard Baxter, 36, was shot in the shoulder and side Sunday, police said Baxter was reported in fair condition. Police said it was a possibility the gunman had commandeered the car, or that he may have hitched a ride. Witnesses said they had seen the man flag down the car, but police said they were inclined to disbelieve reports he had taken it by force.

Police in Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia and Indiana were alerted. The man was described as white and having a mustache. He is about 30 years old and was wearing dungarees and white tennis shoes.

Sgt. Baxter was shot while making a routine patrol of a weekend camping area near California, Ky. He said he had opened the flap of a tent and two shots rang out.

Baxter returned the fire as the man, bolted from the tent and fled across railroad tracks onto the highway. Baxter said he believed he hit the man in the leg.

Baxter said he first encountered the man Saturday morning while patrolling the same area. The man was sitting on the railroad tracks then and as Baxter approached, the man fired two shots.

Baxter was not hit then, but one bullet pierced his pants leg. Baxter also fired back Saturday.

Driver John Farmer Bids Farewell after 37 Years

An Atlanta school bus driver for more than 37 years has retired.

John B. Farmer plans to devote more time to his painting and paper-hanging business in the Atlanta community. He began his bus driving career in the spring of 1929.

His first school bus was a Model-T Ford. His 37 years were continuous, with the exception of a few months in the army in the fall of 1943.

ing zones. In only two have no schools been held although Cook said officers from police departments in these have attended schools in other zones.

The first school will be held next month in Zone 14 which includes Adams, Pike, Scioto, Jackson, Gallia, and Lawrence counties. Zone 9 will be the last to have a school. It includes Guernsey, Belmont, Noble, Monroe, Morgan, and Washington counties.

Ohio's larger cities have had successful training programs of their own for years. These now are taking on men from other departments on a tuition basis. In some cases it runs as high as $225 although in one, Columbiana County, it is only $12. Tuition must be paid by appointing departments, city councils, or county commissioners.

Cities which already had schools when the law became effective are Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Dayton, and Middletown. Cook says they trained about 250 of the 1,000 officers enrolled in the nine-month period.

That would mean that about 750 received training this year who would not have received it prior to the new law. Cook says about 60 per cent of the 750 were new recruits and the remainder officers who took the training voluntarily.

Under the law officers must take the training with one year after their appointment. The state has no enforcement powers to make local departments comply. But it does have means of detecting and bringing pressure on non-certifying departments through state audits of local payrolls, taking note of new employees.

Cook also points out that testimony in court cases by non-certified officers would be open to challenge because in the eyes of the state they would fail to qualify as peace officers.

JOHN B. FARMER

Farmer has at various times, driven all the routes to Atlanta School and for 30 years has driven basketball teams to all away games.

IN HIS 37 years of bus driving, Farmer is proud to claim an accident-free record.

Since the consolidation of schools and the opening of the new Westfall High School building, he has operated a dual route. He drives high school

Actor Welcomed At LBJ Ranch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson's daughter Lynda Bird and actor George Hamilton had a water skiing, picnicking ranch date in Texas over the weekend and speculation heightened about their romance.

They were gay, smiling companions at the Johnson ranch but gave no hint of anything more serious than just another date.

Hamilton, 26, and Lynda, 22, flew to Texas from Hollywood to join a Johnson family reunion at the ranch with newlyweds Luci and Patrick J. Nugent and Nugent's brother, Marine Lt. Gerard P. Nugent Jr., just back from Viet Nam duty and vacationing with his wife, Phyllis.

The presence of Hamilton in this close family group was what gave a bit more importance to this weekend date. He was with the Johnsons on their flight back to the capital early today.

Lynda has been off on a visit to Hawaii with friends. She returned by way of California, where Hamilton squired her around and gave a Hollywood dinner party in her honor.

In recent weeks, both Lynda and Hamilton have been reported dating other friends.

Lynda was beaming when she turned up on Hamilton's arm to attend Sunday church services with her parents at Blanco, Tex., 14 miles from the LBJ ranch.

The young couple sat side by side in a pew with the Johnsons. Hamilton, a Christian Scientist, held the hymn and prayer books, and Lynda, an Episcopalian, leaned over his arm to read responses. Occasionally they exchanged smiling glances.

The President spending a weekend at his ranch, was being ecumenical with his family. He went to 8 a.m. Mass at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church with the young Nugents, who are Catholics. Then, at 11, he attended St. Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church with his wife, Lynda and Hamilton.

The President is a member of the Christian Church. When asked if he would go to his own church, too, the President smilingly replied: "All of them are mine."

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair! They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.
